

Numerical dosimetry

Study of the electromagnetic field absorbed in the human body under several exposure conditions, with particular reference to

- UWB RADARS for the monitoring of the cardio-respiratory activity;
- microwave thermal ablation systems;

and evaluation of the related temperature increase, by using

- self developed codes for the solution of the Maxwell's equations and of the bio-heat equation;
- commercial codes

